DeBartolo Development is one of the largest privately-held real estate development companies in the country. Founded by Edward J. DeBartolo Sr., the organization has always had the ability to build projects that no one else could by focusing on community revitalization and capitalizing on its assets.

A creator of the mall concept, DeBartolo Development compels retailers to sell in a new agora with a new mindset. By building some of the best-known shopping centers in the country, DeBartolo focuses on re-inventing the way developers build and consumers shop.
